

CUS – 2CUSTOMER CONDUCT*POLICY STATEMENT

The Manhattan Public Library strives to provide the highest level of service to all library users. The following rules are set in place to protect the right of library customers to enjoy a safe environment, conducive to the use of library materials and services. The library is a “limited public forum,” created for the specific purpose of providing public access to materials and resources.

The library board may establish rules and regulations and “may exclude from use of the library, any and all persons who willfully violate such rules.” (K.S.A. 12-1227) This includes rules of conduct to assure the library is used for the general purposes for which it is intended.

REGULATIONS:

Customers not engaged in reading, studying, library programs or the use of library services may be asked to leave the library premises.

No person shall engage in conduct that violates the law. The library will uphold all federal and state laws, and also local ordinances in regard to public behavior, including but not restricted to the following:

1. Threatening or physically harming other customers or staff
2. Stealing library materials, property or equipment, including the removal of library materials from the building without properly checking out or receiving authorization
3. Damaging library materials, property or equipment
4. Bringing firearms or other weapons onto library property. Though under the provisions of the Kansas Personal and Family Protection Act (Senate Substitute for House Bill 2052), licensed citizens may carry concealed handguns.
5. Possessing or consuming alcohol or illegal drugs, or being under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs
6. Smoking or other uses of tobacco products, including e-cigarettes and other electronic vaping devices, within 20 feet of the library
7. Blocking library entrances and exits or obstructing aisles and passageways.
8. Indecent exposure, exhibitionism, lewd and lascivious acts

Customers shall respect the rights of other customers and staff, and shall not engage in behavior so as to unreasonably disrupt another customer’s or employee’s use of the library or disrupt the operation of the library by:

10. Sleeping in the library
11. Bringing animals into the library (except service animals)
12. The library complies with ADA requirements that state service animals must be harnessed, leashed, or tethered, unless these devices interfere with the service animal's work or the individual's disability prevents using these devices. In that case, the individual must maintain control of the animal through voice, signal, or other effective controls. Service animals must be housebroken and well behaved. Unwarranted and unprovoked violent behavior, such as uncontrolled barking, growling at other customers, jumping on other people, or running away from the owner are examples of unacceptable behavior

Customers are required to:

2. Be responsible for their personal items. The library is not responsible for customers' personal items.
3. Comply with the library's Internet Access and Public Computer Safety policy.
4. Comply with the library's Unattended Children' policy. An unattended child is any young person unaccompanied by a responsible adult and who is unable to

- care for themselves, or use the library responsibly. Children under 10 years of age must be accompanied by an adult.
5. Have a purpose for being in the Children's Room. Adults not requiring access to children's materials or services will be required to relocate to other areas of the library. The Children's Room is intended for use by children and their parents or caregivers.
 6. Promptly leave the building at closing time or as instructed by staff in an emergency.
 7. Stay in public areas of the building unless otherwise authorized by library staff.

Loss of Library Privileges

The library has the right to deny use of the library (including facilities and services) to those violating library rules, and it also has the right to deny future library privileges.

Customers who display inappropriate behavior as identified in this policy will be asked to stop and may be required to leave the library for the remainder of the day.

A violator with repeated offenses, multiple offenses, or one-time serious offenses will be banned from the library for an extended period of time.

Permanent banning for unacceptable behavior may be authorized by the Director or their designee and will be used when repeated attempts to correct unacceptable behavior have failed or serious offenses have occurred.

A violator who refuses to leave under these circumstances or who returns to the library during the defined period of the ban is trespassing, and staff will seek assistance from the police.

Right of Appeal

There may be times when customers disagree with library decisions, policies or actions. Customers may appeal actions of the library in a variety of manners, including but not limited to, speaking with staff, use of customer feedback forms, email or letters.

Problems not resolved to a customer's satisfaction may be appealed, first to the Library Director or their designee, then to the library board.

A request for reinstatement of privileges lost due to behavior in conflict with the code of conduct must be submitted in writing the library director. Requests should include a statement demonstrating an understanding of the library's conduct policy and expectations for appropriate behavior at the library and an ability to comply with those expectations.
